

Figure 2: Comparison of Functional connectivity (FC) patterns between real and predicted fMRI data for both Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) and Typically Developing Controls (TC), where individuals with ASD exhibit sparser FC patterns compared to typically developing individuals. Green lines denote consistent connections, while red lines highlight deviations between the real and predicted FC.